SENIORS

CLASS OF 2025

We want to take a moment to express our sincere congratulations to each of our graduating seniors on this incredible achievement. Graduating from high school is no small feat, and to do so while continuing to pursue your passion for art & dance is truly commendable.

We have had the pleasure of watching all you grow and develop as dancers over the years, and we are constantly impressed by your dedication, hard work, and commitment to your craft. You have poured your hearts and souls into your performances, and it has been an absolute joy to watch you shine on stage. As you move on to the next chapter in your lives, whether it be college, a gap year, or something else entirely, we have no doubt that you will continue to succeed and excel in all that you do. Always remember the lessons you've learned through dance: discipline, focus, perseverance, and above all, the power of self-expression.

We are so proud of each of you, and I wish you all the very best in your future endeavors. Congratulations, graduates!

GUEST PERFORMER

TYLER DUNCAN

Tyler Duncan is a Seattle based multidisciplinary dance artist, choreographer, performer and teacher that has been dancing since 11 years old. Growing up, Tyler spent most of his time studying at Westlake Dance Center and Allegro Performing Arts academy. At the age of 16, he started dancing with Ballet Northwest as a guest artist, propelling him into classical ballet technique. Professionally, Tyler has danced with Z.Theory and AIM Collective, and has had the opportunity to dance in both the Men in Dance Festival and Boost Dance Festival. Under the Jerome L. Greene Fellowship, he is continuing his studies at The Juilliard School in New York, to help him grow as a leader and educator in the arts. He aims to develop his student's technical range, while encouraging them to make independent choices, challenge themselves and bring awareness to the body.

ALCHEMY TAP PROJECT

For generations, the Pacific Northwest has produced talented dancers of all kinds, only to see many of them leave for New York, Los Angeles, Las Vegas, anywhere with more opportunities for working artists. After finishing a tour with Cirque du Soleil in 2010, Josh Scribner decided to buck that trend and return home to build something here in the Pacific Northwest. With the goal in mind of someday creating a professional company, Josh assembled a small crew of young amateur hoofers and founded the Alchemy Tap Project.

Based on the ideals of excellence, entertainment, and experimentation, ATP began developing a repertoire of material that spanned from traditional to cutting edge, often incorporating influences from the world of drumming, ballet, hip hop, and theater. ATP's first performance was in 2012 at Century Ballroom. Seattle Gay News editor Sean Knittel wrote "I'm a convert. After watching these talented dancers, just seconds into their act, I dare you not to sit up, take note, and think to yourself, 'How on earth are they doing that?!' Simply put, they are amazing. I can't help but rave about them!"

Since then, ATP has performed at The Moore Theatre, Benaroya Hall, the Walla Walla Dance Festival, Seattle Art Museum, Town Hall Seattle, and Icicle Creek Center for the Arts, as well as many appearances at Seattle's iconic Century Ballroom. Individual members have gone on to perform with Chicago Tap Theatre, Stomp, Teatro Zinzanni, and Chicago Human Rhythm Project - but occasionally they return to perform alongside ATP with a company of their own! ATP is thrilled to share the stage with Project Convergence and its co-founder and former ATP dancer, Vikas Arun!
